Snow Fun Facts

- Tiny particles of dust or algae can make snow appear to be a range of different rainbow-like colors, including yellow, orange, green, and even purple, according to The Old Farmer's Almanac.
- There are actually five different types of snow, which are characterized by the amount of water in their consistency. There is dry snow, moist snow, wet snow, very wet snow, and, finally, slush.
- Every winter, more than a septillion snowflakes fall down to Earth, according to the Library of Congress. To put it another way, that's 1,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 snowflakes or a trillion trillion.
- According to the Chicago Tribune, nearly all—about 95 percent—of snowflakes fall at speeds that are between one and six feet per second.
- The residents living in Bethel, Maine in Feb. 2008 spent a month building a Guinness World Record-setting snowperson—who was, in fact, a snowwoman named Olympia. The impressive snowwoman's height measured just over 122 feet, which is just a few feet shorter than the Statue of Liberty.
